The diagram is a genealogical chart template. It begins on the left with a single individual (highlighted in yellow) who has fields for Name, Born (MM/DD/YYYY), Died (MM/DD/YYYY), and place. This individual is connected to two main branches. Each branch leads to a box representing a marriage (light blue), which includes fields for Name, Born, Died, place, and a 'Married' date/place field. From each marriage box, two lines descend to boxes representing children (light green). Each child box contains fields for Name, Born, Died, place, and a 'Married' date/place field. This pattern repeats, showing multiple generations of the family tree. The chart uses a color-coding system: yellow for the root, light blue for the first generation, and light green for subsequent generations. The layout is hierarchical, with lines indicating the flow of descent and marriage.
